Defeat Columbia In Preakness Trial He Shows Crews Decisively in Three Races on Severn.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 8 .- All three of columbia's crews, varsity, junior and freshmen, were decisively defeated on the Bovern this afternoon by eights of the Naval Academy. "Outweighed and outcowed" tells the tale, for the su-

Second Crews-Naval Academy, 7 min-ites 25 4-5 seconds; Columbia, 7 minutes

Freshmen Crews-Naval Academy, 7 A thrill was injected into the first race, the freshman event, when, a quarter of a mile from the start, Cooper, No. 6 in the Columbia boat, useless passenger after breaking his outrigger and oar, jumped overhoard to relieve the boat of his weight. Life preservers were tossed to him from the superintendent's barge and he was picked up by a launch. At the time the Navy boat was well in the lead, and it was increased to ten lengths as the finish was crossed, though the seven remaining oarsmen sulled gamely. Columbia made the best contest in the main event, which was the last to be rowed. The Navy got a better start and had a length to the good a little after a hundred yards had been covered. Columbia struggled so gamely that it caught up half the distance in the next quarter of a mile, but it had shot its bolt. Three hundred yards from the finish the Navy crew started a spurt and Columbia responded with the best it had. The Navy had more in reserve, however, and it increased its margin rapidly at that point, crossing the line five lengths in front. There was some excellent rowing during the race, and Columbia, out-weighed, made a plucky fight and showed that Rice had taught them watermanship with good effect. The race between the second crews was one in which a stronger and better crew outrowed their opponents from the start. The Whitney horses were favorites all through the week preceding the race, and so they remained to the last minute. There was an eleventh hour surge toward Donancona and On Watch, the Loft entries, but it was not strong enough to displace the Whitney stable in the public fancy. The track was not in the best of shape, but it was far better than had been expected, for during the night there was considerable rain.
